FARM BILL PASSES

...Benson Applauds Senate Action

TOP-LEVEL ADVICE

President Eisenhower gestures as he talks with Secretary of State Dulles in an air-conditioned White House limousine at National Airport in Washington just before Dulles took off for Bonn, Germany and a conference with Konrad Adenauer. Eisenhower also flew from the airport to his Gettysburg, Pa. farm home by helicopter. (Story on Page 5.)

Washington (AP) — The Senate Friday night passed an abbreviated farm bill authorizing lower government price supports and larger production for cotton, rice, corn and livestock feed grains. The vote was 62-11.

The compromise measure now goes to the House where its fate is clouded by election-year campaigns and the session-end legislative logjam.

Herded By Ellender

Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.), chairman of the Agriculture Committee and floor manager for the bill, pushed it through in a form believed acceptable to President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

Benson promptly applauded the Senate action as "a constructive farm bill."

"Although it is not all the administration sought," Benson said in a statement, "the bill represents a victory for sound principles and is a long step forward in direction of greater freedom for the nation's farmers."

Benson expressed hope that the Senate bill "will now be passed quickly by the House without crippling amendments."

Numerous compromises were written into the bill during 3 days and nights of stormy debate and voting but the threat of a presidential veto helped shape Senate decisions.

President Eisenhower vetoed an earlier farm bill pushed through the Democratic-controlled Congress in March with help from Republican farm area legislators.

The new limited Senate bill is near to Benson's earlier requests for flexible authority to lower the level of government supports and relax controls.

As an example, it would end past futile efforts to control the planting and marketing of corn, largest crop, and other livestock feed grains, including grain sorghums, oats, rye and barley.

Instead these farmers would be assured of a minimum support based on the highest of Sens. Hruska and Curtis of Nebraska, both Republicans, voted with the majority when the Senate passed the farm bill.

these alternatives: 90% of the farm price average of the past 3 years; $1.10 a bushel; or 60% of parity.

Similar alternatives would apply to cotton and rice crops after 2 years, with existing support levels of 75 to 90% of parity continuing until 1961.

Cotton farmers could expand their production by 40% over allotments and get a reduced support.

A 4-year extension of the present federal wool subsidy act—previously handled as separate legislation—was tacked on to the Senate bill with administration approval.

The last amendment voted into the bill, sponsored by Sen. Hruska (R-Neb.), was designed to aid wheat farmers.

Adopted by voice vote it would give wheat farmers 15 days from enactment of the bill to file appeals on 1959 acreage allotments before the review boards already set up under present law.

Hruska said it was needed because there had been misunderstandings about appeal rights and many wheat farmers had failed to take advantage of them.

Surprise! It'll Likely Rain Here

The weatherman has forecast scattered thunderstorms over the entire state Saturday night and continuing through Sunday, meanwhile Lincoln will have a new all-time high for July precipitation.

During the first 25 days of the month, Lincoln recorded a total of 10.83 inches of rain—just .52 of an inch under the all-time record for July of 11.35 set in 1902.

Warmer temperatures are expected to accompany the thunderstorms, with the mercury rising over western Nebraska Saturday afternoon and over the eastern portion Saturday evening. Little change in temperature is expected Sunday.

Friday was marked by slight flooding. The Big Blue River rose slowly Friday and was expected to continue to rise Saturday. Showers in western Nebraska Friday afternoon included a 2.03 inch downpour at Valentine.

Lincoln reported the state high of 89 degrees, which was also reported by Alliance. The state low of 53 was reported at Sidney. Lincoln's low was 62.

Thor Explodes

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP) — A Thor intermediate range ballistic missile burst apart with a violent roar high in the sky early Saturday shortly after launching.

The missile streaked aloft at 1:40 a.m. (EST) but 20 seconds later it exploded into 2 pieces with a brilliant flash of orange flame.

The 2 sections plunged into the ocean about 5 miles from the launching site streaming trails of flame and smoke.

State Unemployment Benefit Extension 'Bargain'—Survey

By B. R. Rothenberger

Extension by two or four weeks of Nebraska's 20 week limitation on unemployment compensation payments offers a means for substantial improvement of the general state program at a cost that would be disproportionately small.

This was the gist of an extensive survey recently completed by the Division of Employment Security of the State Department of Labor for consideration by the State Employment Security Advisory Board. The matter will be studied by the board as it prepares to advise the legislature in behalf of legislation designed to improve the focus and efficiency in the service of the state's work force.

The survey was based on 3,414 questionnaires to Nebraska workmen who remained unemployed long enough during 1956 to exhaust their benefits under Nebraska's 20 week program. The survey received 2,899 replies.

Dr. E. Glenn Callen, of Nebraska Wesleyan University, directed the survey.

Responses indicated that the general acceptance in Nebraska of 20 weeks as an adequate period to tide seasonal workmen over their no-work period is unrealistic. Seasonal unemployment in Nebraska begins in October and ends the first of May. January is the month of greatest initial unemployment payments and April is the peak month of payment exhaustion. To this the survey commented:

"A major purpose of an unemployment insurance system is to enable the unemployed worker to meet his basic living costs between jobs. Any system which fails to provide exhaustees with benefits when there are no jobs, fails in performing this function."

Including the District of Columbia, Hawaii and Alaska one state grants unemployment compensation 30 weeks, 30 grant it for 26 weeks, four for 24 weeks and four for 22 weeks. Nebraska is among eight which provide 20 weeks while two states limit payments to 18 weeks and one to 16 weeks.

Since a substantial number of workers whose compensation expires do not return to employment because of age or in the instance of wives who return to the status of homemakers, the survey states that Nebraska could extend its insurance period to 26 weeks for an increased cost of $250,000 a year, approximately 4.5% of the present program cost.

The advisory council to which the survey was addressed consists of Don E. Devries, chairman, Lloyd Skinner, Omaha, representatives of state industry, Kenneth Lewis, Lincoln, member of the state executive board of the AFL-CIO and James West, Omaha, representing labor, Monte Kiffin, Lexington and James Reinhardt, Lincoln, representative of the public.

'KIDNAP' NOTE SAYS GIRL HELD HERE

Lincoln police were on the lookout late Friday for a "Betty Rozin" after a woman at Sutton, Neb., discovered a note lying in her backyard that stated a person by that name had been kidnapped and was being taken to a "small house in Lincoln."

According to the note, Betty was in a black and white 1956 Oldsmobile bearing the Colorado license plate BZ475. Information on the note was relayed to the State Safety Patrol headquarters in Lincoln.

Doubts Cast

Doubt was cast on the validity of the report, however, when a telephone check with the Colorado Patrol headquarters in Denver revealed that the license plates BZ475 are registered to another make car belonging to Harry Newlin of Denver.

The Colorado Patrol said it checked and Mrs. Newlin told them the car was in the family garage and was not missing either plate.

Another thing has been bothering officers: There are no reports of a Betty Rozin missing in either Nebraska or Colorado.

Lincoln police said they had asked all their patrol cars to be on the lookout for a car answering the description of the alleged "kidnap" auto.

The note read:

"I am being taken away by kidnapers. I am in a 1956 Oldsmobile, black and white. License number Colorado BZ 475. Please get help. They are taking me to a small house in Lincoln. My name is Betty Rozin."

The Patrol said it was checking with authorities to "see if anyone by that name is missing in Colorado."

Police Chief Hank Klein in Sutton said the note was found by Mrs. Bill Peter. He said she was working in her back yard, which is adjacent to Highway 6, when she found the note. She said she was sure the note hadn't been there before Friday.

Ike Alerts Nikita To Be Ready For West Blast At U.N. Meet

Washington (AP) — President Eisenhower served notice on Nikita Khrushchev Friday the United States does not intend to be forced into the role of defendant at any emergency summit conference.

He also told the Soviet Premier the United Nations Security Council must set the ground rules for any summit talks if the council agrees the Middle East crisis justifies such meetings now.

Eisenhower in effect alerted Khrushchev to be prepared to face western denunciations of Russia's threats to small nations if he shows up in New York for the emergency Security Council meeting Khrushchev has been demanding.

Eisenhower made clear this strategy in a letter which stressed that the permanent council delegates in New York should decide whether such a parley is generally desired and, if so, fix the date and makeup of the meeting.

Stands Ready

If Khrushchev agrees to this procedure, the White House said, Eisenhower stands ready to attend the heads-of-government meeting.

The President's insistence that the 11-nation Security Council should first determine whether a summit session is generally desired served to put the brakes on Khrushchev's proposal to rush to New York for a meeting starting next Monday.

"The date of July 28 is too early for us," Eisenhower said.

U.S. authorities said Aug. 11, a little more than 2 weeks hence, seemed to be a more acceptable time provided the British and French agree.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French Premier Charles de Gaulle would be the other top participants with Eisenhower and Khrushchev, although de Gaulle has said he doesn't like the idea of coming to New York for such talks.

Next Week

At U.N. headquarters in New York, western sources said the Security Council probably will be called into session early next week to work out arrangements for summit talks.

What would Khrushchev say to Eisenhower's stipulation that the talks must be held within the established rules of the U.N. Security Council and the U.N. charter?

"I'll have to ask him," Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov told newsmen with a shrug. Menshikov had just accepted the White House letter from Secretary of State Dulles.

AF To Try Moon Shot Next Month

Los Angeles (UPI) — The U.S. Air Force is planning to attempt its first lunar probe to the vicinity of the moon during the period next month when the moon is closest to earth, it was learned Friday. Reliable sources said man's first attempt to send a vehicle to the moon—unless the Russians try to beat the U.S. to the punch—would be made from Cape Canaveral during the few days when the moon makes its monthly closest approach to the earth.

The moon, according to astronomers, will be closest to earth on Aug. 17 when the distance between the 2 bodies will be about 220,000 miles.

Watershed Priorities Established

Conservation Group Action

The Bowman Spring Branch Watershed in Thayer County, Buckley Creek Watershed in Jefferson and Thayer Counties, and the Big Indian Creek Watershed in Gage and Jefferson Counties, were given top priority construction schedules, in that order, Friday by the Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Committee.

Three other watershed development programs were placed on file pending a field investigation by a federal soil conservation team: O'Neill Draw in Deuel County; Dry Creek Watershed in Saline and Jefferson Counties, and Bellwood Watershed in Butler County.

The Bear-Pierce-Cedar Watershed in Gage County was accepted for consideration for possible construction priority at a later date.

Rejected

The committee rejected consideration of the 9-mile watershed in Scotts Bluff County when representatives of that particular development program did not appear at the committee hearing.

The rating system for priority allocations used by the committee was based essentially on the amount of local interest shown in the respective projects.

The committee was particularly interested in whether or not the areas in which the watersheds are located were organizing into watershed conservation districts as authorized by the 1957 Legislature. Such districts may levy up to a 2 mill tax for their own support.

Some $11 million in federal funds remain for watershed development programs next year, the committee said.

Truck Hits Kills Boy, 11 At Beatrice

Lincoln Star Special

Beatrice — An 11-year-old Beatrice boy died at a Beatrice hospital Friday night of head, chest and internal injuries after he was struck by a bulk oil truck on State Highway 4.

The boy was identified as Homer Murray Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Murray Sr., formerly of Crete.

The accident occurred about 6:30 p.m. 2 miles west of Beatrice when the boy crossed the highway in front of a Farmers Union Oil Co. truck driven by L. G. Beckler, 52, of Beatrice.

According to Sheriff Ned Maxwell, the boy had been spearing fish near a bridge on the highway and crossed suddenly in front of the truck and there was no time for the truck to stop.

He died of his injuries about 2 hours later.

Survivors besides his parents, include 3 sisters, Mary, 9, at home; Paula, 15, visiting in Colorado; Kay, 18, a student at the University of Nebraska and one brother, Dan LeRoy of Lincoln. Funeral arrangements are pending.

The child's father, a life insurance salesman, was away at the time of the accident. The family lives at the Beatrice Shrine Park, just a short way from where the accident happened.

The fatality raised the Nebraska 1958 death toll to 170, compared with 145 a year ago.

Omaha Boy, 9, Drowns On Birthday

Omaha (AP) — Nine-year-old David Modin of Omaha, on a picnic in celebration of his birthday, drowned Friday afternoon at Peony Park.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Modin.

The parents had taken David and 5 of their 8 other children to the park.

David's body was found in the pool when 2 other youngsters, seeing an object in the water, shouted for Lifeguard John Williams who pulled the body out of 5 feet of water.

Mayor Asks For Report On Youths' 'Beer Bust' Party At Local Hotel

Mayor Bennett Martin Friday asked City Atty. Ralph Nelson for a report on the recent "beer bust" at a local hotel.

City Prosecutor Tom Gorham has said no charges would be filed because there was insufficient evidence to prosecute any of the 19 youths apprehended by police.

Police brought 11 boys and 8 girls, whose ages ranged from 17 to 21, to headquarters, but estimated 20 more escaped through a back window of the hotel.

Nelson, after conferring Friday with Police Chief Joe Carroll and Gorham, said his report to the mayor would probably be made Monday.

In calling for the report, Mayor Martin told newsmen he had not been in Lincoln over the past weekend when the incident occurred and was not familiar with the case.

Police released the 19 youths after questioning. Six of the group were 21.

Involved were a number of University of Nebraska students from Lincoln and out-state cities. Police said some were from well-known Lincoln families.

Police said they have determined where 2 16-gallon beer kegs used at the party were purchased and who purchased them.

They said a 21-year-old son of a local doctor purchased the beer but that a 19-year-old boy, whose father is an insurance executive, made the necessary deposit with a personal check for the kegs.

This information, together with the names of the 19 youths involved, is available to city legal officials and Mayor Martin, police said.

Speaker of the Legislature John G. Beaver of Beebe took over Friday as the state's chief executive in the absence of Gov. Victor Anderson, Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney, who sits in as acting governor when Anderson is out of state, is in Minnesota. Beaver is shown signing a commission for an admiral in the Nebraska Navy for Asa K. Lane of Fremont, a WWI buddy of Sen. Beaver's who had wired the acting governor asking for the commission with his signature. (Star Photo.)

$87,683 Bid For Union Accepted

Omaha (AP) — The University of Omaha has accepted a bid of $87,683.95 for the cafeteria in the Student Union building.

The buildings and grounds committee of the Board of Regents accepted the bid of the Servco Equipment Co., St. Louis, lowest of 4 submitted.

The Union and Applied Arts-classroom building were due for completion in March of next year, but university officials said they expect the carpenters strike will delay plans.

2 Million-Ton Coal Deal

Buenos Aires (AP) — A trade pact made this week provides for Argentine import of 2 million tons of coal from Poland.

Beck Cites Need For Governor's Successorship

Attorney General C. S. Beck Friday cited the absence from Nebraska of both Gov. Victor Anderson and Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney as another example of the need for "at least a 7-deep line of successorship to the executive's office."

Beck seeks support of a proposed constitutional amendment which will be on the November general election ballot which would permit the Legislature to provide a line of succession.

If neither the governor, lieutenant governor nor speaker were able to serve, the state would be without a chief executive until the next general election.

NIKITA DOESN'T READ CAREFULLY

Washington (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev fires off a lot of letters, but doesn't read the replies too well, Western leaders say.

President Eisenhower, in his note to the Soviet premier Friday on the summit conference question, said:

"I have studied your letter of July 23. I find in it apparent misunderstandings of the views expressed in my letter of July 22, which I request you to read again more carefully."

The previous day, French Ambassador Herve Alphand said Khrushchev misinterpreted a letter from French Premier de Gaulle. Alphand said Khrushchev was "either mistaken or he did not attempt to read too well."

WEATHER AHEAD

Temperatures for the next 5 days in Nebraska will average 3 to 6 degrees below the seasonal normal with warmer temperatures Saturday, cooler temperatures Monday or Tuesday. Normal afternoon highs range from the upper 80s to middle 90s; normal morning lows range from near 59 to near 69. Precipitation is expected to average 1/2 inch, occurring as thunderstorms in the west Saturday and in the east Sunday, and again near the end of the 5-day period.

"Morale is good, nothing's happening here, and it's hotter than 'blazes,'" is the way Boiler Tender 3rd Class Jimmie Dean Schleiger sums up the situation aboard the Navy's USS Wasp, in the Mediterranean near Lebanon.

In a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Schleiger of 2939 P. Lincoln, Jimmie reported things were pretty dull, the men were on 24 hour watch and not allowed ashore.

Hwy. 77 Zoning OK Criticized

The recent zoning approval on U.S. Highway 77 by the City Council has brought strong criticism from the City Planning Commission.

The Commission's majority report by Chairman E. J. Faulkner was submitted Friday to Mayor Bennett Martin and the Council.

"No public benefit results," the report states, "from giving industrial land owners zoning preferences that are sought for private competitive advantages."

No Comment Yet

Mayor Martin said he "hadn't yet read the report and do not feel I should comment until I do."

The report favored by a 4-2 majority recommends the application of Floyd R. Siders for highway commercial zoning of property near the Penitentiary dairy farm be denied.

Also urged by the Commission is that Council action approving a zoning change for another tract fronting on the highway be rescinded.

The tracts are the proposed site of the Nebraska Tractor & Equipment Co.'s sales and service building and heavy equipment testing area.

Crete Corner Signs Due Before Winter

The State Highway Department has assured the Salt Valley Grange representatives that present signs on the Crete Corner intersection islands of Highways 77 and 33 would be replaced before winter.

Grange Master Wallace Wunderlich and Safety Chairman Glenn Peterson, accompanied by Gifford Mullins of the Lincoln-Lancaster County Safety Council, met with Robert Meyer, state traffic engineer.

The group contends that "Keep Right" reflector signs at ends of 2 of the 3 islands are inadequate in view of the islands' bulge-like shape.

However, Meyer reminded the group that there are other intersections between Lincoln and the Crete corner where the situation is even more hazardous.

Since the corner was opened in December, 1955, Meyer said, there has been approximately 4 1/2 million cars on that section, but only 21 accidents reported.

The signs, Meyer added, are being replaced as a routine maintenance step. They will be brighter and therefore easier to read.

Meyer also told the group it is the department's plan to resurface a 1,500 length leading to the intersection as soon as possible to eliminate visible joint lines between the old and the newer widened paving.

2 Pilots Lost

Alameda, Calif. (AP) — The Navy said 2 jet pilots from the aircraft carrier Midway were lost at sea.

It identified them as Lt. (j.g.) Tommy Lee Williams, 26, and Lt. (j.g.) James Donald Rivers, 29, both of Alameda.

The Navy gave no hint as to the cause of the crash.

3 Pilots Lost

A delegation from Grand Island also queried the state engineer on improvements on South Locust St. from the south city limits to the junction of U.S. 34.

Stating that widening and resurfacing of the road had been programmed 5 or 6 years ago, but then dropped when Highway 281 was relocated, Rens said the project "can be given serious consideration because it will always be an important connection for Grand Island to the interstate system for traffic headed for Lincoln."

A third road delegation visiting the state's highway chief, this one from Hooker County, asked for consideration on "closing an 8-mile gap on the road from Mullen to Tryon."

The stretch of road the group wants lies from a point south of Mullen to the Hooker-McPherson county line.

Prestwick, Scotland (UPI) — Ingrid Bergman's 19-year-old daughter Jennie Lindstrom arrived unnoticed from New York aboard a Scandinavian Airlines plane and drove off toward Glasgow.

An SAS official said Jennie, bareheaded and wearing a flower-print dress, telephoned her mother in London.

Demos To Kick Off Campaign ... At Grand Island

Lincoln Star Special

Grand Island, Neb.—Democratic candidates and members of the 86-man state central committee will gather here Saturday morning to kick off the 1958 fall campaign.

Gubernatorial candidate Ralph Brooks of McCook will keynote the party gathering, outlining his position on taxes, highway construction and other basic matters.

Several vice state chairmen, a secretary and other officers will be chosen in an afternoon session. An executive committee will be organized to take charge of the campaign and will consist of 2 members from each of the 4 congressional districts.

State Chairman Russell Hanson of Newcastle predicted Nebraska will follow "the Democratic trend already underway in Iowa, Kansas, Colorado, Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio, Minnesota and California."

In Omaha, it was announced that former Gov. Keith Neville of North Platte will head the Democratic campaign fund committee formed to raise money for both the 1958 and 1960 campaigns.

The group contends that "Keep Right" reflector signs at ends of 2 of the 3 islands are inadequate in view of the islands' bulge-like shape.

Ress Says No Highway Timetable Yet

State Engineer L. N. Ress has told a road delegation from Hartington that an 8-mile bituminous surface project on Highway 84 west from that community is in the tentative 1959-61 road program but that bid letting dates have not yet been scheduled specifically.

The group had asked Ress for a timetable on the $385,000 project which calls for grading, structures and bituminous surface on the gravel road.

The project, when completed, will give Hartington a dustless surface connection with the new U.S. Highway 81.

A delegation from Grand Island also queried the state engineer on improvements on South Locust St. from the south city limits to the junction of U.S. 34.

Stating that widening and resurfacing of the road had been programmed 5 or 6 years ago, but then dropped when Highway 281 was relocated, Rens said the project "can be given serious consideration because it will always be an important connection for Grand Island to the interstate system for traffic headed for Lincoln."

Nebraska Guardsmen Leave For Camp Today

The Nebraska National Guard will begin its annual migration to summer camp at Camp Ripley, Minn., early Saturday morning.

The 3,400 Nebraska guardsmen, part of the 11,000-member Iowa-Nebraska 34th Guard Division, will spend the next 2 weeks in individual basic training.

Maj. Gen. Warren C. Wood of Gering is the commander of the Iowa-Nebraska 34th Guard Division.

Leave Saturday

The men will begin leaving Lincoln about 6 a.m. Saturday in military-convoys, followed by some authorized civilian cars. It has been estimated that approximately 1,750 vehicles will be used in this year's trek to Camp Ripley.

For the first time, however, commercial buses will be used in addition to trains in the move to camp. One train will originate in McCook, another will originate in Scottsbluff and a third originate in Sidney.

Buses will leave various Nebraska communities, including Omaha, Chadron, Norfolk and Falls City.

Drills Monday

The convoys, which have been routed over several highways to conflict as little as possible with civilian week-end traffic, is expected to arrive at Camp Ripley sometime Sunday. Drills will begin early Monday morning.

Fifth Army Headquarters said this will be the last time basic training will be given the Guard at summer camp. By Oct. 1, all guard units will begin training as combat teams.

Nebraska companies and their commanders who will leave Saturday include:

134th Army Band, commanded by Chief Warrant Officer Raymond Vogt of Omaha.

134th Infantry, composed of 20 units, commanded by Col. William Bachman of Omaha.

159th Tank Battalion, composed of 6 units, commanded by Lt. Col. Warren Baker of Lincoln.

128th Engineers Battalion, composed of 6 units, commanded by Lt. Col. Kenneth Ristau of Omaha.

568th Field Artillery Battalion, composed of 5 units, commanded by Lt. Col. Harold C. Raymond of Anselmo.

724th Ordnance Battalion, composed of 3 units, commanded by Lt. Col. Carl F. Oran of Kearney.

State Headquarters Detachment of Lincoln, commanded by Lt. Col. Henry G. Corbin.

43rd Army Band of Lincoln, commanded by Chief Warrant Officer William G. Corbin.

34th Quartermasters Co. of Lincoln, commanded by Capt. Richard Herpolsheimer.

Hoisington Thanks Staff, Lincolnites

Brig. Gen. Perry M. Hoisington, former commander of the 818th Air Division at Lincoln Air Force Base, whose transfer to Westover Air Force Base, Mass., will go to effect Aug. 1, expressed appreciation Friday for the co-operation given him by his staff and the people of Lincoln.

Gen. Hoisington took over the command of the 818th Air Division in October of 1956. His transfer to Westover AFB was announced on July 5. His replacement is Col. Thomas G. Corbin.

Speaking at a steak cook-out held in his honor at the Sportsmen's Lodge at Bowling Lake, and attended by members of the LAFB squadron adoption assn., the squadron commander and his staff, Gen. Hoisington said:

Most Significant

"The most significant memory that I will have of my tour of duty at Lincoln Air Force Base is the wholehearted support which I have received from both the military and civilian personnel of this community."

"While I feel that a number of things have been done during the past several years, a great number of projects remain to be accomplished."

"The new commander, Col. Corbin, is eminently qualified to carry on in the traditions that have been established to make this the finest installation of the Strategic Air Command."

"I should therefore like to express my appreciation to everyone and to wish the Air Base and the community of Lincoln good fortune for the future years which lie ahead."

Ribblet, 20, and Lovelace, 18, had pleaded guilty before Judge Paul White to taking about $3.85 from a Lincoln man July 4. They reportedly had given the man a ride in their car prior to taking the money.

Iowan Gets 2 Years On Bad Check Charge

Howard Kruse of Des Moines, Ia., was sentenced to 2 years in the State Penitentiary in Lancaster District Court Friday on a bad check charge.

Kruse, 35, had pleaded guilty before Judge Paul White. He was charged with issuing a $50 insufficient-fund check Dec. 20, 1957.

Secretary Of State Deposits $300,768.61

Secretary of State Frank Marsh reported to Gov. Victor Anderson that his office deposited a total of $300,768.61 in revenue with the state treasurer for the first 6 months of the current year.

The money came from brand inspection fees, corporation filing fees, trade mark receipts and other services handled by the secretary of state's office.

Of the total, $182,914.23 was deposited into the general fund.

Russ Warn Turkey Against Attack On Iraq

Threat Tagged 'Nothing New'

London (AP)—Moscow Radio said Friday night the Soviet Union has formally warned Turkey against attacking Iraq.

The broadcast, in the Turkish language, said a note to this effect was presented to Turkey.

Turkish circles at the U.N. in New York, commenting on the Soviet action, said: "This is nothing new, it should not be taken too seriously. A note of this kind was sent to Turkey during the last Syrian crisis in the U.N. Turkey has no plans of any kind to attack anybody."

Moscow Radio quoted the Kremlin note as saying that "according to reports the Turkish government is preparing to begin military operations against Iraq in a few days' time."

The reports were not specified. But the note, as quoted in the broadcast, said "a request by King Hussein or Jordan might provide an official pretext for an onslaught by Turkish troops on Iraq."

The note referred to speculation that military moves may be planned to upset the revolutionaries who seized power in Iraq July 14.

Its Duty

Then came this Russian warning: "The Soviet government considers it its duty to warn the Turkish government of its responsibility for the likely consequences of an armed conflict in this region."

"The Soviet government hopes that Turkey will not act with the aggressors and that it will not commit any act likely to aggravate the situation in the Middle East."

Moscow said the note was handed by the Soviet charge d'affaires in Turkey to the Secretary General of the Turkish Foreign Ministry.

Remains Tense

A fuller version of the note broadcast later in Russian said the situation remains tense, and added:

"The danger of an aggression against Iraq has not been removed."

"According to information at hand, Turkey is calling up reservists and Turkish troops sent forward to the frontiers of Syria and Iraq are being concentrated at Diyarbakir—although it is known that neither Syria nor Iraq are threatening Turkey."

Probe Conducted In Disappearance Of Adm. Quiggle

San Francisco (AP)—The Navy pursued an investigation behind closed doors Friday into the mysterious disappearance at sea Wednesday of Rear Adm. Lynne C. Quiggle, native of Grand Island, Neb. It was reported considering new angles in the case.

The admiral's brother, H. G. Quiggle Jr., a social service supervisor, said Navy officials questioned some passengers and crew members of the liner President Cleveland. The widow also testified.

"They told us some new points were being considered," said Quiggle. "I don't know what they meant, and they wouldn't tell us."

Another brother, Doyle Quiggle, a lumber company buyer, accompanied the admiral's widow, Mrs. Ann Griffin Quiggle.

Dag Consults

United Nations, N. Y. (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld consulted with a new 7-man advisory group on how to beef up the U.N. emergency force in Lebanon.

A spokesman said there was an exchange of views but no decision. The force now numbers about 140 men.

FINNISH SURGEONS STOP HERE ON AUSTRALIA TRIP

Two of Finland's foremost physicians making a whirlwind tour of the United States enroute to Australia have included Lincoln in their list of selected stopping points.

Guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. M. Thomson are Dr. Kalle Emil Kallio and Dr. Aulis Korhonen.

Dr. Kallio is on his way to the Royal Australian College of Surgeons in Perth, Australia where he will read a paper on the ills of the skin when used as reconstruction material in ligament, tendon and joint surgery.

A professor, he is a pioneer in the field of surgery wherein skin is used to replace tissue removed around muscles and joints.

"Skin," he explains, "is tolerated inside the body. It makes a fine covering for a joint. Using it, a stiff joint may become moveable again."

Dr. Korhonen is specialist in urology and surgery. He is a professor and chief of the General Hospital of Pori, Finland.

But he says he is mainly along for the ride. This is his first visit in the United States. He describes himself as a traveling companion of Dr. Kallio.

However he was not allowed to stagnate professionally while in Lincoln. Both doctors were invited to speak at an informal medical confab Thursday night at the Lincoln Air Force Base Officers' Club.

From Lincoln the pair will go to California and Hawaii. After Dr. Kallio is finished in Australia he will again read his paper in Manila and Tokyo.

Dr. Kallio and Dr. Thomson met while Dr. Thomson was in Europe teaching after World War II. This is Dr. Kallio's fourth trip to the U.S. and his second visit in Dr. Thomson's home.

Pay Television Put On Shelf For Another Year

Washington (AP)—Pay TV was pushed at least another year into the future by the Federal Communications Commission.

According to congressional requests, the FCC decided not to grant any permits for subscription television service until after adjournment of the next session of Congress.

The 86th Congress convenes next January and would normally adjourn its 1959 session the following August.

FCC Chairman John C. Doerfer said applications for permits would continue to be received and processed but that final action on them will be held up.

He said this would give Congress another year in which to decide whether it wants to prohibit pay TV on channels now used for a free viewing service. Several prohibition bills are pending.

Omahans Blamed In Road Delay

State Engineer L. N. Ress said Friday that Omaha city officials, and not the State Highway Department, are responsible for slowing up construction on the interstate highway in the Omaha area.

In a letter to State Sen. George Syas of Omaha, Ress labeled sections of a recent article in the North Omaha Booster the "result of misinformation, or lack of information, regarding responsibilities of certain governmental subdivisions in the planning, design and construction of this very important highway facility."

The newspaper article had blamed the State Department of Roads for lack of speed on interstate construction in Omaha.

Ress said he sent the letter to Syas because the Omaha senator had forwarded to him the newspaper clipping.

"Planning on the interstate highway through Omaha has been delayed for some 6 months due to indecision on the part of Omaha officials on the location of the south expressway and the west expressway," Ress wrote.

Ress said planning and design of the interstate highway in Omaha has come to a "complete halt," adding that the City of Omaha "holds the key as to 'when the storm will hit the city'."

Pride And Hope

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The Holdrege National Guard Armory Building is big enough to hold more than 400 people for a banquet and it was almost filled for that purpose Thursday night. The occasion was the 25th anniversary of the organization of the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District.

For the most part, the evening was devoted to looking back over the years of hard work on the part of many men whose faith made the District a reality. One could not have attended the event and left without the conviction that no dream is beyond fulfillment if it is strong enough in the hearts of those who envision it. For Tri-County, as the District is more affectionately known, has literally transformed an area.

By dint of a burning dedication of spirit, the destructive and wasted waters of the Platte River have been calmed and conserved. They have been harnessed behind huge dams to satisfy the growing demand in the Platte Valley for more electric energy.

At the same time, these dams have created great lakes which have provided the area with unusual recreational facilities. But perhaps most important, the water of the Platte has been conserved for the irrigation of land which in the parched years of the early 30's spread nothing but hardship, misery and suffering over the area.

No longer do the waters of the Platte run aimlessly through the state, leaving destitution or destruction. They are carefully channeled off and onto the fertile soil where they push the corn, wheat and alfalfa into almost guaranteed annual yields of abundance.

At the same time, these waters pass more slowly throughout state, always replenish the great reservoir of water that lies beneath the surface of the earth. If all our subsoil water could be raised and spread upon the land, it would cover the entire state of Nebraska with water 20 feet deep, said C. Petrus Peterson of Lincoln in his remarks at the Holdrege banquet.

This was Mr. Peterson's way of showing both the importance of this process of underground water recharge and the responsibility it places upon us. A mighty and respected figure in the field of conservation, the imposing Senator Peterson noted that the future use and conservation of this great wealth of water will bring controversy and conflict.

But this, he said, is a job for future generations. With the heritage given it by men like Mr. Peterson, the late Sen. George Norris, the late James E. Lawrence and many others like them who never stopped dreaming, planning and working, this future generation should jump at the chance it has.

But Mr. Peterson gave this generation more than just a responsibility. He gave them hope and confidence with his philosophy that sound principles are hammered out in the crucible of controversy. He sees, not a stalemate in controversy, but progress. Somewhere between the pessimist and the optimist, he said, is a track that leads us all to a better and more productive way of life.

He pointed out that today's difficulties between the state's power agencies are but the controversy on which the future will be built.

Certainly, Tri-County is vivid proof of the wisdom of his words. As this great project continues to pour forth its benefits upon the land and its people, we hope it serves as a constant reminder of that truth which tells us that from our differences we will gather strength and an unconquerable unity of purpose.

Problems Into Progress

Burton Holmes

Some papers didn't carry it at all, and those that did put a small head on a brief item and ran it inside. It said that Burton Holmes was dead. It could not have meant anything to the younger generation. But there were those whose memories went back 40 or more years and they were made pensive by the announcement.

It seems that it was only yesterday, and indeed it was not too long ago, that any enlightened American knew about three important world travelers. There was Lyman Howe, whose jerky early day moving pictures, with behind-the-screen sound effects, brought foreign lands to America visually. There was John L. Stoddard who published his lectures on world travel, complete with photographs. And there was Burton Holmes, an electrifying speaker who was an annual fixture on the Chautauqua circuit.

Nebraska was an ardent Chautauqua state. Almost every county seat had a Chautauqua park and every summer people by the thousands rode the trains to the nearest center, sat in rough seats in a sideless tabernacle and took delight for a week in a veritable pin wheel of culture, ranking from the sweetly blended voices of the Rooney boys, through the spirituals of the colored Dunbar quartet to almost always Burton Holmes, fresh from La Belle France or Afghanistan. He is the man who said he personally knew Abdul Abulbul Amir. That was before the world found out there was oil in the Middle East.

Holmes generally held forth on a stifling afternoon against the background obligato of a thousand locusts in the nearby grove and after he had finished his hour long word picture of happy life in Guatemala the Mill City military band (local) perplexed John Phillip Sousa with its rendition of one of his marches. Meantime, children joyously spent their nickels for the wonderful new confection called the ice cream cone, the cone being made in those days before their eyes, like a thin waffle, shaped around a wooden plumb bob before receiving its dollop of ice cream.

All we can say is the world has changed greatly since Burton Holmes' day, but he apparently was on far better terms with the "furriners" than is our present day world traveler, John Foster Dulles.

City Storm Sewer Program

On next Monday, the City Council will be taking what should be its last look at projects to be financed with the city's $3.5 million storm sewer bond issue. There are some 20 projects under discussion and $777,000 left to do the job.

The projects were toured earlier this week by some of the members of the City Council. This should have served to give them a better understanding of the need for action. The sewer program under discussion is some four years old and should have been completed long ago.

However, nothing can be done about that except to move ahead at this time and finish the job. There is no point in waiting any longer for the expenditure of this money—money specifically approved for this purpose by the voters.

It is fortunate, too, that a majority of the projects under consideration were a part of the program planned when the $3.5 million in bonds was voted on. According to Mayor Bennett Martin, only three or four of the 20 projects were not a part of the original program.

Keep It On The Subject

The Sherman Adams-Bernard Goldfine matter is having an uphill pull competing for the public attention against such formidable competition as a Middle East crisis. But it gives ground grudgingly.

Latest chapter was a demand by Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, (R-Mo.), to switch villains. He wants the Harris Committee investigated for the way it investigated first Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams and later his loose spending friend Bernard Goldfine.

In the presence of minor indiscretions, but no substantial invasion of personal rights, the Congress would be prudent to ignore such an unusual request, and it appears that Congress is in that frame of mind.

The country at large has had its fill of distractions and dissembling in the Adams-Goldfine affair and a further projection of such tactics would only serve to remove the assistant to the President to a great distance from the center of interest—a considerable service to him, perhaps, but of dubious value to the public interest.

Mr. Adams has admitted that he made political intercessions for his friend, the clothing tycoon, Bernard Goldfine, and the latter has admitted performing rich favors for Adams, charging them to business expense. As a question in ethics that wraps up the case. And from here on the question revolves around the simple center of whether the administration and the public will condone or punish the two principals. And it is not in the public interest to becloud the case with endless distractions.

"Up?"

DREW PEARSON

Nation Watches Texas Campaigns

WASHINGTON — There may be near war in the Near East. There may be a summit conference in the offing. There may be a new assistant president in prospect to replace Sherman Adams. All these may be important. But today there's an election in the biggest state at present in the union, and some of the races are interesting, not merely to Texans, but to the nation. Here are some of them:

Henry Gonzalez — First Mexican-American ever to run for governor of Texas. He is proud of his Mexican ancestry that he spells his name with two Z's instead of one. His father is editor of the Spanish paper La Prensa in San Antonio. Henry is a Texas state senator who chalked up a record for filibustering on immigration. His race is significant not because he'll win, but because of the growing Mexican-Negro bloc in Texas. The Mexican population of Texas is approximately one-million and a half; the Negro population one million. A lot of them have not registered in the past, but this year there will be an extra effort to vote. "Some people say I haven't a Chinaman's chance," said Gonzalez in Houston the other day. "I don't want a Chinaman's chance. All I want is a Mexican's chance."

William Blakley — A millionaire businessman dressed in chaps and sombrero—but forgetting to take off his French cuffs, is spending more money to get elected to the Senate than William Vare once did in Pennsylvania. Blakley has plenty of it to spend. He owns a lot of oil, a good slice of Braniff Air Lines, and a large piece of downtown Dallas, is listed by Fortune magazine as one of the 75 wealthiest men in America. Blakley has so much TV time at his disposal that during one show from the Rice hotel in Houston he ran out of things to say and had to spend the last seven minutes shaking hands.

Blakley is in the happy position of not worrying about the Near East, a summit conference, or the depression. He is worried about only two things—Labor and Negroes. When he served briefly in the Senate he did worry about one government agency—the Federal Trade Commission.

When Edward Tait came before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee for confirmation, Blakley, then a 90-day senator, proceeded to heckle him unmercifully. Usually a new senator, especially one serving only a three-month term, doesn't butt into a confirmation hearing. He lets his seniors ask the questions. But the interim senator from Texas proceeded to ask Tait all sorts of questions about the Trade Commission's right to supervise insurance companies and decide whether their advertising was deceptive.

Finally Senate colleagues got the pitch. They learned that one of Bill Blakley's insurance companies, Girardin Insurance, had been cited by the Trade Commission for false and deceptive advertising. Furthermore, the senator himself had been cited by the FTC.

American People Not In On Crisis

WASHINGTON — Bootless Brutus who knelt to no avail to Julius Caesar had nothing on the earnest Washington reporter who decided to hunt hard news here about United States Middle East policy as the second week following Marine landings in Lebanon drew to a close.

The White House was no help. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty continues to be the sole fountainhead of its disclosures. His morning nugget was that the President was working on a reply to another letter from Khrushchev.

This is the letter accepting the President's suggestion for a summit meeting undesired by the administration and offering to make up the guest list, prepare the refreshments and outline the conclusions. Naturally it will take time to compose an answer. By the time the answer reaches Moscow the Soviet premier will doubtless have thought of something else, since he has clearly seized the letter-writing championship from Lord Chesterfield.

It is not, of course, Hagerty's fault that he is beginning to sound like a broken phonograph record. He is only the conduit for news; he cannot make it, at least in the foreign policy field.

However, it is not to be supposed that the White House is without information about the great world outside Moscow. An agreeable lobbyist for the grocery chains of the nation moved briskly through the executive offices where reporters wait hours for crumbs from the Hagerty table.

Asked by a friend about his mission, he replied he was just back from Europe and was making a report. Pressed to tell to whom he was reporting, he was coy, but within seconds he was whisked obsequiously behind the great wall which now hides all the staff work being done within immediate call of the President. The obsequiousness was immediately marked down by the regulars as proof that Sherman Adams was receiving, not a gift but callers.

The State Department was frank. It had nothing at all to offer. Nobody has held a press conference or even a briefing there since the Marines took off for the Middle East.

Secretary of State Dulles had been helping to compose the reply to Khrushchev. But now he was seeing the French ambassador and the prime minister from Ghana. Dulles still plans to take off Saturday to explain everything to Chancellor Adenauer in Bonn and to the Baghdad pact nations minus Baghdad in London.

What is new is that United States moves, so weighted with heavy political consequences, foreign, and domestic, are still being treated as purely a military command decision, as the crisis—which such moves were designed to resolve—moves toward a third week.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

My Father Watches O'er Me

I trust in God wherever I may be,
Upon the land or on the rolling sea,
For, come what may, from day to day,
My heavenly Father watches over me.

He makes the rose an object of His care,
He guides the eagle through the pathless air,
And surely He remembers me,
My heavenly Father watches over me.

I trust in God, for, in the lion's den,
On battlefield, or in the prison pen,
Through praise or blame, through flood or flame,
My heavenly Father watches over me.

The valley may be dark, the shadows deep,
But O, the Shepherd guards His lonely sheep;
And through the gloom He'll lead me home,
My heavenly Father watches over me.

By HORACE B. POWELL

Here is another matchless hymn from the pen of the Rev. W. C. Martin, the author of "My Anchor Holds," "Land Of The Unsetting Sun," "The Name Of Jesus Is So Sweet," and others.

It calls for complete trust in God in all circumstances. In every stanza the author proclaims his own reliance upon divine love and care.

The reference to "lion's den" in verse three recalls the Bible story of Daniel whose faith and courage saved him from harm when he was cast into the lions' den by King Darius. The imagery in the final verse of the hymn is borrowed from the Twenty-third Psalm, the "Shepherd's Psalm," where the psalmist declares: "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for Thou art with me."

Charles H. Gabriel wrote the hymn tune. He composed music for many other gospel favorites including "The Glory Song," "Higher Ground" and "Since Jesus Came Into My Heart."

With His Help

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Yes, it's a sad day when people in high places are dupes for Communism. Our Constitution doesn't require us to have diplomatic relations with Russia. But what else is to be expected when those in high places say their best friends are Communists and call Stalin "good ol' Joe" and "the first lady of the world" addresses the Communist youth rally and can't see that Alger Hiss was a poor risk to have in our government.

No, we shouldn't hate the Communists or the dupes, but we should hate Communism because it's an evil. And since the Communists have put God out of their lives, naturally the devil has taken over and we will never be able to whip them without God's help. I feel that if enough of us Christians would spend just 10 minutes each day asking for His help, we would have peace and the Communists would be whipped, for a peace that begins within one's heart would flow outward to others and there would be peace everywhere.

Balanced Diet

Elmwood, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I salute the subscriber who raised his voice in a recent issue in protest of the unbearable musical fare that the broadcasting stations cram down the throats of those who would like to hear a few classic numbers occasionally. Every local station is an offender in this respect and I am sure that the citizens who have a preference for that type of music now being played almost exclusively are fair-minded enough to share the radio time with those who like a different type of music.

So it behooves the local stations to rearrange their programming and try to effect a more balanced musical fare for the music-loving public. Here is a plea for more and better music over the radio.

A SUBSCRIBER

Wheel Tax

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It is fortunate that we have public-spirited individuals like Mr. L. K. Emry who take the time to publicize additional information on wheel tax charges. The fact, according to Mr. Emry, that Omaha charges $20 on a three-ton truck indicates that under the Lincoln proposed wheel tax, trucks of unlimited size and tonnage in not having to pay more than $10 would have been in a very favored category. In other words, their $10 fee would be much less than the wear and tear they give the city streets.

Mr. Emry also opposes a proposed charter change that would make it next to impossible to conduct a referendum petition drive. In this position on the petitions, I heartily agree. Existing charter provisions outlining the details relating to referendum and initiative petitions are already sufficiently restrictive both as to voter percentages and technicalities as to form, etc. Proof of the foregoing statements is substantiated by petition history, which shows that they are invoked by the people on very rare and extraordinary occasions.

LEO N. BARTUNEK

Thou Art A Jewel

Anselmo, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Maybe it is the expedient thing for Lincoln to hush up drinking parties and unethical actions, the same as is done in Washington, D.C. Of course, in small towns it is correct to find who sells the liquor and fine them accordingly, but if it is going to disclose some important people or their children, it appears best to disregard the law and not expose scandals.

As we advance in our educational processes, we may even conclude to expand our freedoms to allow higher speed limits on cars and to allow youngsters to buy their own liquor as the grown-ups can. Perhaps we could reduce the voting age to 14 or 15.

Consistency is a jewel. How are we advancing?

U.N. Approaching Decisive Test

NEW YORK — My father used to say, "Son," as he called me for short, "Remember two things: Never shake hands with an undertaker, and if you're coming back to work after a long layoff always start at the Summit."

Where else? A reporter approaches the impending summit conference with a breath best described as bated. Never in its trying life — and its life of only half trying — will UN be as sorely tested as a peace-sealing organization as when (and if) the greats use it for their Middle East talks.

The world organization's well-wishers and professional apologists have excused its failures on the ground that its negotiators have customarily been men of rather small standing in their respective governments and, therefore, incapable of decisive action.

If the big fellows do no better, come no closer to providing mankind with its first good night's sleep in a long time, we wonder if the prestige of UN can ever be restored. By the same token, if they achieve anything that even looks like a lasting solution to the appalling confusion, greed, hatred and neglect of the Middle East, UN will enter a period warranting the respect of millions of its disparagers.

It's yes or no for UN now. A fretful world can't stand still for "maybe."

Congratulations to Marian Anderson; Redwood City (Calif.) lawyer Herman Phleger, George McGregor Harriger, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, Businessman Watson W. Wise of Tyler, Tex., and other fine Americans named by President Eisenhower as new members of the American delegation of the UN General Assembly.

Ike Sends Dulles To Bonn, London

To See Adenauer
And Pact Chiefs

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles Friday took off for Bonn and London.

Dulles was accompanied by several high-ranking State Department officials. He received the good wishes of President Eisenhower at the airport.

Eisenhower's personal plane, the Columbine III, on which the Dulles party is traveling, took off at 4:04 p.m. (EST).

Dulles will confer with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer at Bonn Saturday afternoon. He will fly to London Saturday evening to talk with British and Baghdad Pact officials Sunday and will participate as an observer at a meeting of the Baghdad Pact Council Monday.

Back Tuesday

Dulles is due to get back to Washington Tuesday morning.

Diplomats representing the countries in the Middle Eastern defense treaty were on hand to see Dulles depart. The countries are Britain, Iran, Pakistan and Turkey.

No one from Iraq showed up. Iraq is a member of the treaty group but since the overthrow of its government by pro-Nasser officers 2 weeks ago its relations with the United States and other western powers have been in an uncertain state.

Accompanying Dulles are Mrs. Dulles and several aides, including assistant secretaries Girard Smith, Andrew Berding and William Rountree.

Ike At Farm

Gettysburg, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower flew here by helicopter Friday from Washington to spend the weekend resting at his farm.

He landed on his farm at 5:30 p.m. EDT after a 42-minute flight from Washington.

Eisenhower took off from the Military Air Terminal a few moments after saying goodbye to Secretary of State Dulles.

Brazilians Admire Nebraska Wheat

The richness of Nebraska wheat fields drew appreciative sighs from 5 Brazilian wheat experts, on a week-long tour of wheat-producing areas.

Brazil, the largest wheat importing country in South America, normally produces only about one-third of its total wheat requirements and the United States is the major source of her imports.

Carlos Maria Felipe Montero, general manager of a flour mill at San Paulo, Brazil, the English-speaking member of the party, explained that Brazil is trying to increase wheat production, but anticipates that increased consumption will keep its exports from slipping.

"The yield and quality of Nebraska wheat is excellent," Montero commented.

Not Winter Wheat

Montero explained that winter wheat cannot be raised in Brazil due to a short growing season—only 7 months—and as a result, early maturing varieties must be planted.

He said Brazil grows a soft spring wheat with insufficient gluten for strength, and in order to be milled, must be blended with strong and hard types, such as those grown in Nebraska.

A rainy season, such as Nebraska has experienced in 1958, further cuts the growing season in Brazil.

Montero explained Brazil pays a subsidy to wheat growers, as is done in the U.S., but places no acreage limitations on it "since we're trying to grow more every year." The purpose of the trip, he said, is to study the way wheat is grown, handled, stored and classified in the U.S.

Consumption Encouraged

He said wheat consumption in Brazil is now being encouraged, as per capita usage is now only approximately half that in the U.S.

The delegation toured the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, visited a macaroni and spaghetti processing plant and the Nebraska State Capitol Friday.

Saturday, they will leave for a 2-day visit at Omaha, then will go to Brookings, S.D.

to attend the International Wheat Surplus Utilization Conference at South Dakota State College.

Howden Suffers Shock As Electric Drill Shorts Out

York, Neb. — Arley Howden is hospitalized here with injuries received when his electric drill shorted out.

Howden, associate director of the Nebraska Community Education Project here, was using the drill in attaching a luggage carrier to his station wagon. He was completely paralyzed for 2 hours, and according to his attending physician suffered some heart damage. However, his condition is listed as satisfactory.

Eight-year-old Joan Howden rushed to her father's rescue upon hearing his cries for help and disconnected the electrical appliance.

The Howdens are preparing to leave for Chico, Calif., where Howden has accepted a post with Chico State College. He will receive his doctor of education degree Aug. 1 from the University of Nebraska.

Oil Well Venture Near Blue Hill Starts Monday

Drilling Is Located On Meyer Farm

Hastings, Neb. (P)—Drilling of 2 oil wells to test the top of the Cambrian formation is scheduled to begin Monday at the Anna Meyer farm one mile north of Blue Hill in Adams County.

L. L. Graff and T. G. Kleinholtz of Kimball are operators of the drilling venture. They hold leases on 4,055 acres in Adams and Webster Counties and an additional 6,000 acres in the area making more than 10,000 acres leased from 63 landowners.

The state issued the drilling permit Friday and operations are scheduled to get under way Monday.

The first well is expected to be drilled to a maximum of 4,200 feet. If this well is successful the second will be as an offset. If it is a dry hole, information obtained in the test will be used to determine the location of the second well. Both are expected to be completed by the end of August.

Two previous tests in Adams County have been unsuccessful.

Placek Sends Knowland Aid For Campaign

Wahoo, Neb. (P)—A Wahoo banker and farmer has contributed to the gubernatorial campaign expenses of Sen. William Knowland, (R-Calif.).

Emil E. Placek, chairman of the board of the First National Bank, sent Knowland a $100 check with a letter stating his agreement with Knowland's position favoring a national "right to work" law.

Just 2 years ago, Placek wrote labor leaders Walter Reuther, George Meany and John L. Lewis, challenging them to disprove that they and other labor leaders were not leading the nation "into bankruptcy and destruction."

Placek told the Californian he had been a Democrat for 60 years, but offered to assist Knowland in his campaign.

Postmaster Dies 3 Days Before His Retirement

Norfolk, Neb. (P)—Frank D. Conley, 65, who would have retired as postmaster in Madison, Neb., in 3 days, died at his home after suffering a heart attack earlier this week.

Mr. Conley and his wife had purchased a home in Norfolk 2 months ago in anticipation of their retirement. Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Saturday in St. Leonard's Catholic Church at Madison, with burial at Madison.

Born Nov. 7, 1892, at Carroll, Iowa, Mr. Conley was editor and manager of the weekly Breda News before he was 20 years old. He came to Madison to purchase the Star-Mail in 1916. He sold it a year later to enter the army in World War I, returning in 1919 to repurchase the paper along with Harold A. Silletto. He sold out again and worked in California until 1926 when he again purchased the newspaper. He and Mrs. Conley owned it until 1945, but Mrs. Conley took over active management of the paper in 1936 when he was appointed postmaster.

Surviving in addition to his wife, Jessie, are 2 sisters and one brother.

Official Claims Omaha Water 12 Times Safer Than Required

Omaha (P)—Omaha's water is safer than the minimum bacteriological requirements of the U.S. Health Service, 12 times safer.

That was the angry reply made by Ralph Trester of the Metropolitan Utilities District to a remark by Francis W. Kittrell of the Public Health Service that Omaha water might be a little on the bad side.

Kittrell made his comment at a river pollution conference in Sioux City.

He said Sioux City's untreated sewage dumped into the Missouri River was a hazard to the health of Omaha's people. Every glass of water drunk at Omaha contains traces of partially decomposed human feces from the Sioux City area and sewage bacteria may occasionally survive the Utilities District treatment at Omaha, Kittrell remarked.

To that Trester said "bunk," adding that he will ask the Public Health Service to make an immediate inspection and certification of Omaha's water supply.

Hruska Favored Alaska Statehood Due To 2 Factors

Washington (P)—In voting for statehood for Alaska, Sen. Roman Hruska (R-Neb.) said he took into consideration 2 factors — "a sturdy, young and pioneering people, and a wealth of natural resources ready for development."

The senator indicated his stand on Alaska might not hold for Hawaii, writing in his weekly Washington Report "other applications for statehood should be considered on their own merits, not on basis of this as a precedent."

Coffey Case Probe Likely

Washington (P)—The Senate Rackets Committee will begin an investigation of secondary boycott practices probably after the November election, Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.) said Friday.

Curtis, a committee member, has introduced a bill to outlaw secondary boycotts. He said the inquiry would be unlike other hearings of the rackets committee because it will not be focused primarily on misconduct of individuals or finances.

Although no definite agenda has been agreed upon by the committee, Curtis said the investigation probably would include the Coffey Transfer Co., which went out of business in Alma, Neb., plus case involving the Clark Brothers Transfer Co., of Norfolk, Neb., and Ford Van and Storage Co., of Omaha.

Van Pelt May Complete Liquidation Of Bus Company

Federal Judge Robert Van Pelt informed interested parties to the American Bus Lines Inc. hearing Friday that he was "seriously considering" complete liquidation of the debtor company even though it could mean that 600 employees might lose their jobs.

The U.S. District Court hearing, which begins its 3rd day Saturday, was requested by American's trustees in connection with alleged "outside interference" with labor contract negotiations in the 25-day-old strike.

Judge Van Pelt's statement came in conjunction with an order to the debtor company's trustees to prepare a memorandum not later than Aug. 28 to include these points:

—Whether an order should be issued for consummation of the reorganization plan (now scheduled for Sept. 15) would benefit the debtors in view of the firm's current financial condition and labor relations.

—Whether conditions have so deteriorated that it is necessary to transfer a major portion of the debtor's operating assets to prevent further depletion of assets.

—Whether an amended plan of reorganization is still feasible.

—Whether all that remains for the company is complete bankruptcy.

In other action, the court ruled out all but 3 sections of the trustees' motion asking for instructions in what America contends is interference with its business operations.

Several Possibilities

Federal officials said the hearing would continue with these possibilities before the court: A restraining order against the international union; a contempt citation against officers or agents of the international union who allegedly participated in negotiations, or possible direction of a suit for damages against the international or other unions.

Attorney Phillip Aitken estimated that the trustees' portion of the case would finish soon after hearing resumes Saturday morning.

Witnesses called Friday by Aitken included officials of the 3 local unions, 1133, 1467 and 1468, and the international union (International Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway, and Motor Coach Employees of America).

The trustees' have contended that international officials illegally influenced the vote by the bargaining locals on the unsuccessful 3-year-contract proposed July 15.

Atty. Herman Sternstein, Washington, D.C., representing 7 officials of the local divisions and the international union, has contended there has been no interference by the international union.

Trustee Richard Smith has testified that the strike so far "has evaporated any hope of a profit in 1958" and the debtor's current cash balance cannot last much longer even with curtailment of all non-essential activity.

The 25-day-old strike has affected 400 drivers and 250 hourly-employees in 28 states.

Search Pinpoints Cause Of Blasts Ousting 2,500

Bellevue, Ill. (P) — A 30-hour search finally pinpointed the cause of 6 gas explosions in water mains that caused the evacuation of 2,500 persons from their homes Thursday.

Fire Chief John Wade said late Friday propane gas had seeped into a water main while a trucking firm was making repairs on a propane tank truck. Firm officials had no comment.

The fire chief said it was necessary to weld on the truck and as a precautionary measure the truck was flushed with water.

But during this process, Wade said, the gas filtered into the water main.

The first explosion occurred at mid-morning and was followed quickly by 5 others.

Frightened residents were ordered to leave homes in a 50 square block area. They spent an edgy night with the possibility of other explosions but none occurred.

Party Honors Recent Bride

When Mrs. Leon Lichtenberg and her daughter, Miss Sandra Lichtenberg were luncheon hostesses at Hotel Cornhusker on Friday, the honoree was Mrs. Larry Haight who, before her marriage recently, was Miss Sissey Walker.

Sixteen guests were invited to the luncheon after which Mrs. Haight was presented with a bedroom-kitchen linen shower.

Marriage Of Interest

In the presence of members of the immediate families, the marriage of Miss Margaret Collins of Lincoln, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Collins of Stanton, to Supreme Court Justice Adolph E. Wenke was solemnized Friday morning, July 25, in the chapel of Westminster Presbyterian Church. The lines of the 10 o'clock service were read by the Rev. Frederick A. Roblee, and the wedding music was played by Miss Josephine Waddell, organist.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Richard Berkheimer, and William F. Wenke of Pender served his brother as best man.

The bride wore for her wedding a daytime ensemble in beige silk shantung with white accessories. A white orchid corsage completed her costume.

Following a wedding luncheon at the Hotel Cornhusker, Judge and Mrs. Wenke left for a trip to the Pacific northwest and Canada, and will be at home in Lincoln after Sept. 15.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Phi, Mrs. Wenke has been active in the University of Nebraska Panhellenic Association. Judge Wenke received his degree at the University of Nebraska and is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Dear Abby . . .

Blues In The Night

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a fellow who said he loved me too. I have a very jealous nature and I know that he was once in love with a girl and they went together for almost two years. He would never let me hum or whistle, or sing SWEET SUE" because that was her name and it was "their song." I got mad at him one night and I started to sing, "Sweet Sue." He lost his temper and knocked the filling out of my tooth. He left me (we were in a tavern) and I had to hook a ride home. I called him the next day and he said he didn't want to see me again. How can I get him back?

BLUE GIRL

DEAR BLUE: If you intend to "get him back" you should take out BLUE CROSS. You asked for it when you sang "Sweet Sue" — but a man who would knock the filling out of a lady's tooth needs to be "filled in" on how a gentleman behaves. Lose this brute.

DEAR ABBY: I recently was a guest in AMERICA and was invited to a formal dinner. The hostess was served first. It appeared rude to me, but perhaps it is your custom. If this is correct in America I would like to know the origin of this custom.

FROM ACROSS

DEAR FROM: The custom of the hostess serving herself before her guests never was "correct" but it was practical and accepted at one time. In the old frontier days when rough and unschooled guests were invited to dinner, the hostess would help herself and eat first in order to show her guests which silverware to use. The need for such a demonstration went out with the Chicago fire.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Town Talk Entertains At Farewell Courtesy

—it may not be the giddiest week end in history, but the current period does have its brighter moments— and most of them involve guests—already in town—or arriving—and travelers.

Coming from Omaha this week end, for instance, will be Mr. and Mrs. Dean Vogel (Mary Helen Davis Ax-tell) who will be honored by Mrs. Vogel's mother, Mrs. Ellery Davis on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Davis has invited guests for hors d'oeuvres at her home, and dinner at the Lincoln Country Club. The guest list will include the members of a club to which Mrs. Davis has belonged for a number of years.

—another of the fun parties for Saturday evening is the patio barbecue affair for which Mr. and Mrs. Don Bryant will be host and hostess at their home, with Kessler Circle neighbors as guests.

In the barbecue supper group will be Mr. and Mrs. Tony Kuzelka, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. Barclay Bayley, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Darrington, Mr. and Mrs. Konrad Suprunawicz, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Gloe, Mr. and Mrs. Al Hamersky, Mr. and Mrs. Don Sweem, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Berreckman and Mr. and Mrs. John Hoffman.

—our guest list this morning includes the names of Mrs. Irvin Zeavin and her three children, Robert, Michael and Lynn, who have come from Los Angeles to spend three weeks as the guests of Mrs. Zeavin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chesen.

—and arriving this week end will be Mrs. J. S. Kuney and her two children, Chris and John, who are coming from Athens, Ga.,

—and arriving this week end to be the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Kinsey will be Mrs. Kinsey's sister, Mrs. J. S. Kuney, her daughter Chris, and her son John, of Athens, Ga. Mrs. Mary McMahon, Pi Beta Phi at Nebraska, and her son and daughter have been visiting Mrs. Kuney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McMahon in Falls City.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinsey, incidentally, have entertained other house guests recently —Mrs. Kinsey's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kuney, the former Roseack McMahon and their children Jack and Sue Ann stopped off for a brief visit en route to their home in San Bernadino, Calif.

Mrs. Joseph W. Rempe was a bridge party hostess at her home on Friday evening when she entertained in farewell courtesy to Mrs. William Heintzelman who leaves soon, with Mr. Heintzelman and their family, for Toledo, O., where Mr.

Heintzelman has been transferred, and where the family will reside.

Rempe, the hostess; and standing are Mrs. Bob Wadley and Mrs. Sidney Artt.

Honored

In courtesy to a late August bride-to-be, Miss Antoinette Quattrocchi, members of her family entertained Wednesday evening at a miscellaneous shower held at the YWCA. Sixty guests were invited for the evening and co-hostesses were ten aunts of the honoree.

Miss Quattrocchi will become the bride of Joe Hamersky on Saturday, Aug. 23, at a ceremony to be solemnized at St. Teresa's Church.

To Celebrate Anniversary

In celebration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Sunday, July 27, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Dale of Lincoln will go to Omaha on Sunday, July 27, where an open house in their honor will be held at the home of their daughter, Mrs. B. H. Harper, 103 So. 96th St. Guests are invited to call between the hours of 2 o'clock and 5 o'clock on Sunday afternoon.

KIMBALLCREST

A new arrival in Kimballcrest is Daniel Lawrence Neiden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Neiden, who was born at St. Elizabeth Hospital on Wednesday, July 9. Daniel has two sisters, Debbie and Paula, and his grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Neiden of Lincoln and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sohen of Phoenix, Ariz., who are visiting in Lincoln this month.

brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Frisbie of Idaho Falls, Idaho.

Arriving in Patrician Heights last week were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Knobel who are the guests of Mr. Knobel's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Roesler.

However, we understand that Mr. and Mrs. Knobel will not be "visiting" in Lincoln for long for they are apartment hunting as Mr. Knobel will attend the University of Nebraska this fall. The Knobel couple came to Lincoln from Olympia, Wash., where Mr. Knobel had been stationed at Ft. Lewis with the Army.

Heard that Mr. and Mrs. Albert Priess joined other members of their family on Thursday evening to honor Mr. Priess' father, Ben Priess, on his birthday. The party was held at the home of the honoree.

Had Morning Wedding

MRS. ROBERT DAVID BLACKETER

The chancel of Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal Church in Montebello, Calif., was appointed with all-white blossoms for the wedding of Miss June Rosalie Beck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Beck of Monterey Park, Calif., and Robert David Blacketer, USMC, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Blacketer of Lincoln, on Saturday, July 19. The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Francis Watterson.

Wearing daytime frocks of pastel yellow organza over taffeta and carrying crescents of Paris roses were Miss Donna Lampe as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaid, Miss Joan Borse, both of Los Angeles. Miss Leslie Brown was the flower girl. John Horan of Anaheim, Calif., served as best man and seating the guests was Gary Wright, USMC, El Toro Marine Base, Calif.

The bride's waltz-length gown was fashioned of white embroidered tulle over satin. Embroidered medallions edged the bateau neckline of the basqued bodice and were repeated on the brief, shirred sleeves, which were complemented by long mitts of the tulle.

The couple will reside at Whittier, Calif., near where the bridegroom is stationed at El Toro Marine Base. Mrs. Blacketer attended East Los Angeles Junior College and is a member of Sigma Tau sorority.

Church Site Sale Ruled Valid

...Holy Trinity

The sale of the former site of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church at 12th and J to Farmers Mutual Insurance Co. was ruled valid Friday by Lancaster District Judge Paul White.

The State of Nebraska had claimed that because the site was deeded to the church by the state in 1871 with the prohibition that it be used "for religious purposes only" that this would not permit another use of the land. But Judge White declared this contention not valid and that the church received the land free of any restriction as to resale.

The judge held that the sale of the land "was expressly authorized and in full accord and compliance with the laws of the State of Nebraska and the Canon Law and Charter of said Church." The deed for the land, he added, will convey absolute title to the insurance firm free of any restrictions.

Church Destroyed

The church at 12th and J was destroyed by fire in January, 1957, and the site was sold to Farmers Mutual last October. The church has begun construction on a new $360,000 church at 6001 A.

The State of Nebraska was brought in as a co-defendant in a suit filed by 75 church members last November in an attempt to block relocation of the church. These members wanted the church rebuilt at 12th and J.

The state reportedly was brought in at court order to clear up the matter of title to the land. No ruling has yet been made on the objections of the church members who claim the church should not be rebuilt at 6001 A.

Ruling A Guide

Judge White's ruling is expected to be a guide in any future questions of whether a church which received land from the state can sell it to a non-religious group. The matter reportedly had not before been the subject of a court test.

Still pending before the court is an amended petition by 53 of the 75 original plaintiffs for the return of money allegedly pledged for construction of a new parish hall and educational unit.

Only the footings and some foundation work had been completed on the proposed $100,000 structure when the church building at 12th and J was destroyed by fire in January, 1957.

The sums claimed in the suit total approximately $17,000.

Yank Athletes Hit By Colds--But Expected To Be Set For Reds

Moscow (AP)—A mild siege of sore throats and bad colds struck the U.S. men's track and field forces Friday. But none was serious and the team is expected to be at full strength for the giant 2-day dual meet with the Russians, starting Sunday.

Shotputter Parry O'Brien and the squad's middle distance running ace, Tom Courtney, were among those given a shot of penicillin.

O'Brien, world record holder in the shot, did not work out Friday. Instead, wearing street clothes, he helped Earlene Brown, the sturdy Los Angeles woman who put the shot 55 feet, 4 inches in practice.

Courtney worked out as usual as did 2 others suffering from colds—polevaulter Jim Brewer of Los Angeles and Jack Yerman, the quarter-mile runner from Woodland, Calif.

"No one is seriously ill," said Joseph Tackach, the team physician from New York. "I expect all the boys to be in good shape by Sunday."

Four old injuries seemed to be healing properly, affording the United States no excuses in the giant battle with its chief rival of the 1956 Olympics at Melbourne.

Rafer Johnson of Los Angeles, who will meet Russia's gifted Vasily Kuznetsov in the decathlon, said his twisted knee was giving him no more trouble. He said he hoped to beat the Russian's world decathlon record.

Rink Babka, the discus thrower from Palo Alto, Calif., still had a painful ankle but Coach Larry Snyder said the injury should not affect Babka's throwing.

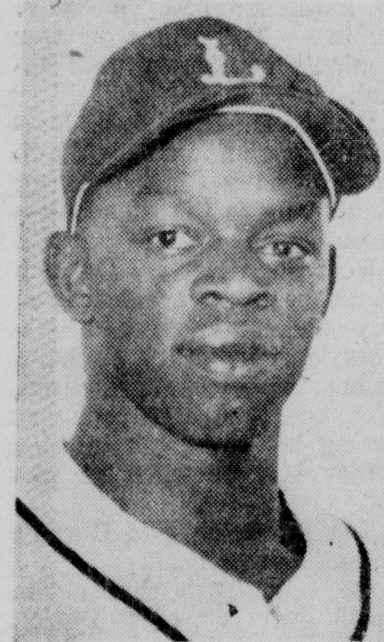

Harold Connolly of Boston, despite a chest injury, has had three hammer throws of more than 220 feet. Bill Jackson, the broad jumper from Los Angeles, said his knee, twisted at West Point, N.Y., before departure, was coming around okay.

Payton Jordan of Stanford University, assistant to Coach George Eastment, said, "we tend to forget that injuries very often stimulate a youngster. Usually he does better with some of these injuries than without them."

The American men, dominant in the sprints and hurdle events, are expected to beat their Russian rivals in overall scoring. But the U.S. women figure to lose to the harder Soviet females. Each country will have 2 competitors in each event. Points will be awarded on a 5-3-2-1 basis.

Two American teenagers have made a tremendous impression on the Russians. One is 17-year-old Paul Stuber of Lakewood, Calif., the high jumper. The other is 18-year-old Dallas Long, shotputter from Phoenix, Ariz.

Soviet athletes invariably 4 to 7 years older than the Americans. The Russians think it amazing that these 2 youngsters are good enough to compete.

JACKSON ... collects 9th victory.

Chiefs Rock Pueblo 10-6

Pueblo, Colo. (AP)—Left-hander Al Jackson pitched Lincoln's Chiefs to a 10-6 Western League victory over Pueblo Friday night to square the current series at a game apiece.

Jackson was touched for 12 hits, but was in no serious trouble after the Chiefs gave him a 5-2 lead in the 3rd inning.

Centerfielder Tony Washington and rightfielder Dave Brennan were the big hitters

Pung Leads

French Lick, Ind. (AP)—Jackie Pung of San Francisco knocked 5 strokes off par and improved her 1st-round score by 10 strokes to take the lead in the 2nd round of the French Lick Open Invitational golf tournament.

16 In Delaware 'Cap

Stanton, Del. (AP)—Sixteen fillies and mares were entered for the Delaware Handicap, richest race strictly for the females, which winds up the distaff 3 series and the meeting at Delaware Park today.

If all 16 start in the 21st running of the mile and a quarter classic, the race would gross a minimum of $153,562.50.

Roberts ... returns Mrs. Placek's equipment.

FISHERMAN CATCHES ROD, STUNS NEIGHBOR

Mr. Ripley, here is one for your book.

Walter F. Roberts of Wahoo, personnel manager for the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co., was fishing in 80 feet of water at Upper Manitou Lake, Ont., Canada.

He pulled up a rod and reel in perfect condition from the bottom of the lake, equipped with line, sinker, and even a spinner bait.

The guide, Elmer Karnopp, knew that the equipment had been lost by a lady in a party of four 2 weeks earlier. The lady was from Nebraska.

The lady was from Wahoo.

The lady, Mrs. Bill Placek, lives next door to Mr. Roberts in Wahoo.

She was speechless when Roberts returned to Wahoo and presented her with the rod and reel, 850 miles from Lake Manitou.

Lake Manitou is 15 miles wide by 45 miles long. Karnopp, who had also been the guide and camp host for Mrs. Placek's party, knew exactly where she had lost her equipment, but had been unsuccessful in attempts to raise it.

The recovery was witnessed, in addition to Karnopp, by Judge Adolph E. Wenke, Lincoln, Judge Emerson Koker of Wahoo, and Leo J. Beck Jr., Lincoln.

Cerv Hits Pair But A's Topple

Kansas City (AP)—Arnie Portocarrero was scrupulously careful to keep base runners off the paths while he pitched 3 home balls Friday night and came out an 8-3 winner as the Baltimore Orioles won a swatfest from the Kansas City Athletics.

Big Bob Cerv, who was given a "night" last Tuesday, slammed out 2 home runs for Kansas City to increase his total in that department to 26 for the year.

Portocarrero, who spent 3 futile years trying to win for the Athletics before being traded to Baltimore this spring, coasted in behind a home run barrage from teammates Gene Woodling, Gus Triandos and Bob Nieman. Woodling connected with 2 on base for his 8th roundtripper in the 3rd inning. Triandos smacked No. 18 a moment later and disposed of the A's starting pitcher, Bob Grim.

The other Oriole home run was a solo blast by Nieman in the 7th inning.

Matt Sheridan gave up only a single by Bob Haller in the 3rd inning as he pitched Globe Laundry to a 4-0 Elks League victory over Standard Reliance Friday night.

Sheridan fanned 15 and walked only 3 in winning his 5th game. His pitching opponent, Jon Munford, struck out 12.

Jim Fox, with a solo homer, and a pair of doubles by Jim Levy paced the Globe attack.

Amateur King Clubbed To Canvas 4 Times By Slugging Title-Bidder

Los Angeles (AP)—Zora Folley, 200, Chandler, Ariz., knocked out Pete Rademacher, Columbus, Ga., 198, in the 4th round of their scheduled 10-round fight Friday night, and once again the former amateur king's lofty hopes of winning fame were dashed.

The end came after 1 minute, 15 seconds of the 4th with the 1956 Olympics king down for the 2nd time in the round, and his 4th trip to the canvas during the brief battle.

The 26-year-old Folley insured his position as a top challenger for world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

Last August Rademacher in his 1st professional fight was knocked out in 6 rounds by Patterson.

Folley publicly declared he hoped to better that mark and at the Olympic Auditorium, before a national television audience, he did it.

Folley opened a slit over Big Pete's left eyelid in the 3rd and Rademacher came up with an ugly gash toward the middle of his forehead over the right eye when the 2 collided.

Referee Charley Randolph did not bother to finish the count on 29-year-old Pete on the last knockdown.

Folley, with a right to the jaw that traveled hardly 12 inches, sent Pete down for a 9 count for the 1st time in the 3rd round.

Rademacher was up on 1 knee quickly but a moment later another short right to the chin put him down again. He got up at 8 and charged in with a gallant rally. The 2 exchanged wallops along the ropes at the 10-second point and went into a wild exchange after the bell.

Rademacher, his wounds temporarily doctored, waded right in as the 4th round started, but Folley connected with a beautiful straight right to the head and down Pete went for 9.

Folley threw some more blows, the last 1 a damaging right uppercut to the chin, and that was it.

Folley, on the referee's and judges' cards, had a shade the best of the 1st round. Oie judge called the 2nd round even, and the other 2 officials again had Folley a point in front on the 10-point-must system.

Rademacher drew heavy cheers from the estimated 7,000 fans when he came back fighting in the 3rd and in the opening seconds of the 4th, but he drew some boos from the disappointed crowd as he left the ring.

Pros Said Unhappy With New Medal Play Meet

PGA May Revive Match Play Tourney

New York (AP)—The Professional Golfers Assn. match play tournament, dead barely a year, may be brought back from the grave.

Ed Carter, PGA tournament director, was in New York Friday conferring with potential sponsors who would like to conduct such a championship—as a separate event—at the climax of the winter tour.

This would be in addition to the 72-hole medal play championship won last week at Havertown, Pa., by Dow Finsterwald.

"Of course, the PGA executive committee would have to approve such a project," Carter said, "but the prospect of reviving the match play tournament looks very promising."

For 41 years the PGA conducted its championship as a match play tournament, a head-to-head elimination contest. Then this year, in an effort to stimulate new interest, the event was turned into a 72-hole stroke play affair, similar to the U.S. Open.

The meet was a financial success. But there were complaints. Home pros, who make up the backbone of the PGA argued they were deprived the chance of knocking off the big tournament tourists. Others said the PGA reduced its tournament to the status of the weekly competitions.

Carter said it is felt the PGA is now big enough for 2 championships—one at match and the other at medal play.

If present plans are fulfilled, the PGA match play championship would be held yearly at Dunedin, Fla., site of the PGA headquarters, and probably the last week in March, just before the Masters Tournament at Augusta.

"Our idea would be to limit the field to 128 players," Carter said. "These would be determined, as usual by sectional qualifying. Most of the tournament golfers would be in the area, anyhow. Also we would try to discard the 5-year rule and make new pros eligible."

"The PGA match play championship has a wonderful tradition, built around Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen, Byron Nelson and Ben Hogan. It would be a shame to lose it."

Carter said the the 1958 PGA tour grossed $1,300,000 in prize money. He predicted that the present year would be even more prosperous, despite loss of George May's $250,000 Tam O'Shanter events.

Dick Stuart Slams Out 2 Doubles

Pittsburgh (AP)—Curt Raydon blanked the 2nd-place San Francisco Giants Friday night on 4 hits as the Pittsburgh Pirates won their 4th straight game 10-0. Bob Skinner led the Pirates 16-hit attack with 3 hits, including a tremendous home run to the right-field roof.

Skinner's blast came in the 2nd inning and was only the 5th homer to reach or clear the roof in the history of Forbes Field. Three were hit in regular season games—by Babe Ruth, Ted Beard, and Wally Moon. Mickey Mantle hit 1 in an exhibition. The distance to right field is 300 feet, but the roof is more than 40 feet high.

Raydon stretched his personal log over the Giants to 3 victories against one defeat. He pitched a 2-hitter against them earlier this year for his 1st major league victory. His season record is now 4-3.

Dick Stuart, rookie recalled from Salt Lake City, also had a good night at the plate. He slammed out 2 doubles in 5 trips.

The Pirates, who lost 3 games to the Giants last week on the coast, scored single runs in the 1st, 2nd and 4th innings and put the game on ice with a 5-run rally in the sixth. They added 2 insurance runs in the 8th.

Both Skinner and Dick Groat had 3 hits apiece and both drove in 2 runs. Frank Thomas tripled in the 6th inning, extending his consecutive game hitting streak to 15. SAN FRANCISCO PITTSBURGH

Milwaukee (AP)—Lefty Juan Pizarro, in his 1st start since rejoining the Braves, Friday night controlled the Chicago Cubs on 9 hits as Milwaukee went a full game ahead in the National League with a 4-1 victory in the 2nd game (See Page 12, Col. 2)

Grain Prices Drift Lower

Chicago (AP)—Trading in grain futures was at a slow pace Friday and in the absence of any commercial influences prices drifted steadily lower.

Soybeans finished about steady after holding firm in earlier dealings on a scattered demand mostly of a speculative character.

There were reports of a good volume of overnight export business in wheat with receipts of newly-harvested grain from nearby areas on the increase. Selling at 1 1/2¢-1 3/4¢, corn 1 1/4¢-1 1/2¢, soybeans unchanged to 1/4¢ higher. September 1958-59: corn 1 1/4¢-1 1/2¢, soybeans 22-27 1/2¢; laid 3 to 10 cents a hundred pounds lower. Demo Leader Johnson Asks McElroy 'Where Are U.S. Missiles, Satellites'

Washington (P) — The Senate's majority leader said that if Rome had been built at the pace the U.S. Defense Department is moving the streets would still be unpaved. "Where are the missiles, where are the satellites, and where are the other devices?" Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) demanded of Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy at a Senate hearing.

The session was held behind closed doors so that McElroy and his aides could describe a number of secret military projects they said would demonstrate that the nation's defense buildup is moving ahead. "The examples definitely represent progress, much of which is substantial," Johnson reported after the 2-hour hearing before his Senate Preparedness subcommittee. "But if Rome had been built at the same rate of speed, the streets would still be unpaved. 'Good Job' 'The secretary and his people are doing a good job. They have strengthened the defenses of the country and no one can question their dedication. 'But I believe the committee would have a greater sense of comfort if it felt there was a greater desire not just to improve our defenses, not just to catch up with the Russians, but to produce a preparedness program second to none. 'The plans are excellent. But plans are no substitute for military hardware and trained men.' To this mixture of praise and rather extravagant criticism, defense officials had no immediate reply. They were asked for comment, which may come later. Johnson said he remained unconvinced that the Defense Department is working with the 'grim sense of urgency' required by the times. It was McElroy's second appearance before the subcommittee in 2 days.

Johnson opened the session with a statement—made public later—in which he told McElroy the committee is not just interested in whether our programs have been improved; we want to know whether our defenses have been improved. Later the Pentagon announced the Air Force has just awarded a contract for a million-pound-thrust rocket engine to the Rocket-dyne Division of North American Aviation. An engine of that size, military scientists said, could shoot a space vehicle to another planet. Slim Margin Oklahoma City (P)—Rep. To by Morris of Lawton held an official 53-vote margin over Victor Wickersham in last Tuesday's Democratic 6th District congressional primary runoff, the Oklahoma State Election Board announced. However, a recheck, and possibly full recount, is likely in the bitter race. Official tabulations gave Morris 45,474 and Wickersham, former congressman, 45,421.

Capehart Demands Probe In James Roosevelt Case

Washington (P)—Sen. Homer Capehart (R-Ind) formally demanded an investigation of why a Maryland firm, fighting a bill before Congress, put Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif) on its payroll. Raising a question of ethics, Capehart mentioned a House inquiry into whether White House aide Sherman Adams exerted official influence for his gift-giving friend Bernard Goldfine, and added: "What's the sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander." Since the California congressman is the son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, any investigation of his business tie-ups would have extra interest. Capehart made his demand for an investigation to a Senate Banking subcommittee headed by Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala). Sparkman said he would put the matter up to the subcommittee later. The subcommittee is considering a bill to forbid savings and loan associations from advertising that their deposits and securities are insured, unless they are insured by a federal insurance agency. $6,000 A Year The firm which hired Roosevelt to be chairman of its board, at $6,000 a year for part-time services, is the Family Savings Assn. of Near-by Silver Springs, Md. It carries insurance with a Panama firm. Roosevelt testified against the bill. Capehart said "we want to know who is paying you for this attack" and Roosevelt retorted that "I am not being paid for testifying." With attorney Sherman Cohen on the stand for Family Savings, Capehart demanded to know why Roosevelt had been hired as board chairman. "He lives in California," the senator pointed out. Cohen replied: "He has a national reputation as one of the leaders and champions of small business."

Group Policy Case Upheld

The State Supreme Court, in a split decision, upheld the Buffalo County District Court judgment awarding benefits of a group life insurance policy to Mrs. Hazel Exstrum, widow of an employee of the Brown Transfer Co. Justice Edward F. Carter wrote the affirmative opinion. Yeager wrote the dissenting opinion, he said he did not disagree with the majority opinion, but only with the line of reasoning taken to arrive at that opinion. Both opinions agreed that the action was brought by Mrs. Exstrum against the Union Casualty and Life Insurance Co. to recover $2,500 on the group life insurance policy under which it was alleged that Clayton D. Exstrum became insured with Mrs. Exstrum named as beneficiary. Refused Payment Proof of the death of her husband was made by Mrs. Exstrum but the insurance firm refused payment on grounds that Exstrum was not in active employment with Brown Transfer prior to his death and therefore not eligible for insurance coverage. The policy was issued, the opinion said, under terms of an agreement drawn up by the Central States Area Employers Assn. and the Central States Drivers Council, southern conference of teamsters. Although Union Casualty admitted a policy was issued to Exstrum, the firm said it was issued through mistake, the opinion said. Union Casualty contended that as an Illinois firm, the case should have been tried according to Illinois statutes, the opinion said. The affirmative opinion held that Union Casualty's contention that Exstrum never qualified for insurance under terms of the certificate of insurance was "without merit."

Texas Boy, 17, Committed To Federal Custody

Norville B. Allen, 17, of Dallas, Tex., was committed to federal custody by the U.S. District Court at Lincoln as a juvenile delinquent. Allen pleaded guilty to delinquency in connection with the transportation of a stolen car across state lines. Judge Robert Van Pelt committed the youth until he reaches 21 years of age. In another matter, counsel was appointed for Lawrence Leroy Littrell, 20, and Betty Ann Trimpe, 19, of Cincinnati, O., in connection with pending charges of transporting a stolen car.
